Laura Dorr and I spent seven wonderful weeks as volunteers in the orphanage "Amanacer". Everyday we had to dress and feed the babies, and change dozens of diapers! I was "mama" to seventeen one-year-olds.

POTTY TRAINING!

Laura and I spent one week in the hospital of Morchata, a small town outside Cochabamba. As in all areas outside the city, the hospital did not have electricity or heat (and no Showers!). We helped the one doctor and one nurse. and sat in on classes provided for young men representing their villages. These men learned basic first aid, proper nutrition and about delivering babies.
